

AUTUMN ROYAL

Clone 1220

Seedless Table grape variety. Used as a dessert or wine grape. Grown in a sunny, sheltered position they will produce bountiful crops of delicious sweet fruits. Excellent flavour, firm flesh. While grapes tolerate a fairly wide range of soil chemistry and conditions.

MORE INFO

To eat

Red grapevines

Seedless

0 - 1000m

Half/late maturation

Elevated production

Features

- The commercial appeal of Autumn Royal rests on its large berry size and late maturity, as well as the fact that relatively few inputs are required for the production of high quality fruit.
- The dark purple/black berries are larger than other seedless varieties and have a thin skin and juicy, sweet translucent yellow-green flesh.
- Requires a cold greenhouse or a sunny outdoor position:
 - Sun: Full sun.
 - Exposure: Sheltered.
 - Flowering Season: Spring/ Summer.
 - Fruiting Season: Early Autumn.
 - Pruning Time: Early winter.
 - Soil: Well drained soil.
 - Moisture: Water well in summer.
- Grown in a sunny, sheltered position they will produce bountiful crops of delicious sweet fruits even in the UK.
- Deciduous ornamental vine with bright green leaves and large delicious, plump purple/black thin skinned fruit. Excellent flavour, firm flesh.
- While grapes tolerate a fairly wide range of soil chemistry and conditions, a pH of 5.5 - 6.5 is generally recommended.